Spring 2014

With the Help of Our Friends

From March 8th until the 15th we had the privilege of hosting 10 of our friends from Chi Alpha, American University, a returning team lead by my brother, Mike, as they spent their Spring Break here in the Yucatán.

Our goals for the team included:

- an advance in the construction of the Bible School facilities,
- an effective outreach to the town of Sierra Papacal, and
- an opportunity for our Bible School students to collaborate in ministry with our visiting missionaries.

We are happy to report that all of those goals were met! The new Bible School facilities were roofed and, following a timely additional gift, are now completely enclosed. After a week of outreach to the children of Sierra Papacal, a number of them responded to the invitation to follow Christ and a new cell group has been established in order to disciple them. Best of all, these activities were undertaken shoulder to shoulder and hand in hand with our Mexican counterparts.

Wrapping it all up, we could definitely say that much was accomplished in the Yucatan with the help of our friends.

By All Possible Means

In 1 Corinthians 9:22 Paul states: "I have become all things to all people so that by all possible means I might save some." It is a call to enter in, to identify and empathize with a community as a means to reach them. It's easy enough to agree with this concept, but difficult to put into practice. However, our time with the ministry of Sustain Hope has made the emulation of Paul's message a bit easier.

From March 28th to April 6th, Andy Rogers and Frank Mayes from Sustain Hope held services and workshops designed to teach pastors and other leaders how to use simple methods to solve big problems, from water purification to food preparation all the while building bridges to help present the gospel.

It was a joy to host them and translate for them as they brought new ways for our ministers to get involved with their communities both physically and spiritually.

relate

Fifteen years ago in January, our daughter came into this world so quickly that her father wasn't even given the chance to cut her umbilical cord. On Sunday, March the 16th, however, no one was going to take away his privilege of baptizing her as together we celebrated the confirmation of her new life in Christ.
