If you know these things, you are blessed if you do them.

During the months of our iteration, we had the opportunity to receive training in Community Health Evangelism (CHE). CHE is a program that helps church planters collaborate with the communities that they serve to assess and meet their needs, leveraging their own resources to do so. What we've found since then is that, while receiving the information was indeed a blessing, it could never compare to the joy of putting it into practice.

This fall, we were blessed to complete a Vision Seminar designed as a first step to create a CHE community in the city of Tixpehual. From our beginning outreach to our study sessions together, some by the light of our cellphones, we were encouraged as (L-R) Olga, Isabel, Natanael, and Pastor began to vocalize their hope for a new start in this resistant area.

Building Bridges Toward Spiritual Holiday Interaction

'Tis' the season for meaningful interaction. Still, for many of us, it can be hard to move the conversation much deeper than the amount of snow that's fallen outside. That's why it's a good thing that Philip the evangelist is still available for consultation.

For practical steps to facilitate spiritual interactions this Christmas season based on Acts 8, check out our website: <http://goo.gl/YkYnpY>

Relate

For our first two terms, Paul and Sandy Kazim lived just a few minutes away. Becoming Area Directors meant a move to Mexico City, some 17 hours further. Our Fall Regional Retreat, however, brought our gang a chance to hang out with their "Tíos."
